

XM Radio is all I listen to these days. They provide variety, quality, and commodity by providing all of the stations that I gladly pay for each month. Along with fellow listeners, I fully support XM radio and respectfully ask to consider the opinion of the public and realize that the competition has to step up rather than hinder.